tion to the Government has toned down cor by which this land, which to them is at once a land of inheritance and a land of promise, is opened and watered. Even if the agents of the American people, from to the covernment has coned down con-dicably. This was plainly evident to-day in the Senate, for a prominent Democratic Senator, in the debate on the bill to allow the soldiers in the field to vote, distinctly republ-nied the Detroit Fore From. It is evident ated the Detroit Free Press. It is evident that a majority of the Senate is opposed to the last mentioned measure. Aside from the doubt about its constitutionality, there are other considerations which militate against it.

A motion of the House Committee on Agriculture and Education was had to-day to consider matters connected with the Agricultural College. A majority of both committee look upon the college as a failure, under the present system, and will probably recommend that it be merged into the State University, and the Government land grant given to that who constitute not only storters and Southern States.

I have, on many occasions heretofore, submitted to the French Government the President's views of the interests and ideas which are at the botton of the determination of the American Government and people to maintain the Federal Union. The President has sione the same thing in his messages and other public declarations. I refrain, therefore, from reviewing that argument in connection with the existing question. M. Drouyn de L'have draws to his aid the conferences which took place between the Colonies and Great Britain in our Revolutionsly War. He will allow my to answer, that settion, in the crists of a nation, must accord with its necessities, and thefore can be seldom conformed to precedents. Great Britain, when entering on that negotiation, had manifestly come to entertain doubts of her ultimate success; and it is certain that the counces of the Colonies could not have failed to take new courage, if not to gain other advantage, when the parynt State compromised so far as to treat of peece on the terms of conceding their independence.

It is true, indeed, that peans must come ence to trains our reliaway, so far as it relates to street railroads, passed the last time in the Senate. Under the act as amended, a com-pany will. I learn, proceed to construct such railroads in Detroit.

Milwauker, Feb. 14, 1808.

A fire broke out about one o'clock thise. m., in the second story of the Newhall House, in the senthleast corner, consuming the corner rooms to the ladies' parlor, and up to the fifth story. Fire engines were promptly on hand and kept the fismes subdued from the other rooms. The damage to furniture is large, owing to the house being flooded from top to bottom to prevent the fire from spreading to the adjoining rooms. The damage to the building and furniture is estimated at $30,000. The insurance will cover the loss. The fire is supposed to have originated from the grate, and thus setting fire to the floor. The business of the house gree on as usual. The damage done will soon be repaired. some time, and that conferences must attend, if they are not allowed to precede the pacification. There is, however a better form for such conferences than the one which M. Drouvn de L'huys suggests. The institer would be palpably in derogation of the Constitution of the United States, and would carry no weight, because destitute of the sanction necessary to bind, either to the loyal or disloyal portions of the people. On the other hand, the Congress of the United States furnishes a constitutional forum for debates between the altegated parties. Senators and Representatives from the loyal people are Mannox, Wis., Feb. 14, 1863.

The Senate considered the report amending the bill which passed the Assembly this morning, reicasing the State Printers from their contract, and providing for re-letting the contract.

An appropriation bill coming up, it appeared there was no quorum—only three Democrats present, and only two Republicans absent.

The Assembly passed the resolution directing the Superintendent of Public Instruction to prepare a much needed codification of the school laws, and present them to the Legislature within thirty days.

Mr. Webb introduced a well drawn bill, providing for enrolling, with certain exceptions.

the Congress of the United States farmishes a constitutional forum for debates between the alternated parties. Senators and Representatives from the loval people are those already fully empowered to confer, and seataset allow a constitutionally senators and Representatives of the discontented party, who may be constitutionally sent there from the States involved in the leasurection. Moreover, the conferences which can thus be held in Congress have this great advantage over any that could be organized on the plan of M. Druyn del'Linys, viz: that Congress, if it thought wise, could call a National Convention to adopt its recommendations, and give them all the selemnity and binding force of organic law. Seakoonference between the alternated parties may be said to have already begin. Margiand, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennesses and Missouri, States which are claimed by the insurgents, are already represented, in Congress, and are submitting, with perick freedow and in a proper spirit, their advice upon the course sed calculated to bring about, in the shortest integrations have been sent, also, from Louisdama, and others are understood to be coming from Arkanes.

There is a preponderating argument in favor of the Congressional form of conference over the which is agreed by M. Droynide L'hary, at let that while accession to the latter would bring the Government into concurrence with the insurgents in disregarding and the organization of the United States, and a would be of perafelous example; the Congressional Conference on the contention of the United States, and the oversional conference on the outer servers and gives new strength to the second

hir. Webb introduced a well drawn bill, providing for enrolling, with certain exceptions, all able bodied men between dighteen and forty-five, who are voters, for the organization of the State militia, and regulating drafting. Mr. White, (Dem.,) vainly aried to introduce peace resonitions, like those which passed the Illinois Assembly.

Several merions were made and tabled, to amend the fournal of protectedly a Joint Convention, so as to show Mr. Eastman was elected University Regent, and notice was gives of a resolution for a convention to elect a Regent, to fill the place for which, in violation of all precedent, it is claimed Eastman was elected. There is much excited discussion shout the result of the Joint Convention, with which no one is satisfied.

A few of the falsehoods in the Tasse correspondent's malignost assention on Earron, should be corrected. The Regents meet only twice a year—not four times—and get ten centra mile, one way only—not both Earron, it well filled for Resemt, and his part of the Riast deserves a volce in the management of the University.

The Legislature has finally adjourned. Had the body been Republican the Union men could scapcely have been better satisfied with the regult of its deliberations. All the pet measures of the Democracy have been defeated, while the Republicans have carried nearly all they could have possibly expected.

The attacks upon the Governor, like those made upon him in the Constitutional Convention, fell still-born, the Committees of Investigation not even daring to make reports. He was accused by the Chicago Times of having, in collusion with the State Treasurer, robbed the State of over $50,000. It has been argued that the great diversity in widths of track, in the United States, are the results of experiments made by different engineers and builders, and that no gauge has been fully decided upon, as having advantages over all others. The most summent engineers and experienced railroad men, have given their preference for the 4 feet, 81.2 luch gauge; and many would doubtless decide in favor of the five-foot gauge, if the whole railway system was to be decided upon. Had the present extent of railroad communication in the United States been foreseen, Congress would probests.

The steamaint Ella Warley, from New York for Havass, was run into ou Monday night last, at sea, ten miles south of the Highlands, off New York harbor, by the steamer North Star from New Orleans, and sunk in fifteen minutes. The passengers were all saved, but six of the crew were lost. There are various statements as to the responsibility of this disaster. It is stoutly maintained, and as perustently denied, that the officers of the Ella Warley had been drinking freely, and were incapable of managing the ablp. Her cargo was worth about $175,000. The Ella Warley will be recollected as formerly a blockade ranner he receileded as formerly a blockade runner between Charleston and Bermuda. She was finally captured, confiscated, and sold to a New York shipping house.
